

EXECUTIVE EDUCATION GRADUATE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

“ Combining a long history of expertise and excellence with innovation, the Graduate Institute’s Executive Education provides professionals with the tools to advance their careers and lead their organisations in world affairs. Our programmes incorporate high-quality teaching and cutting-edge research to develop creative thinking and responsible solutions for the challenges of our world.”

Professor Cédric DUPONT
Director of Executive Education
Professor of Political Science

WE OFFER HIGHER LEARNING FOR PROFESSIONALS

Degree-granting Programmes

For professionals looking for a degree-granting programme in order to advance their career and gain further expertise in a specific area while continuing working.

Our Executive Masters (Diploma of Advanced Studies, 30 ECTS) and Executive Certificates (Certificate of Advanced Studies, 16 ECTS) are designed in a part-time format over a period of six to nine months and lead to internationally and professionally recognised diplomas.

See enclosed flyers for more information on each programme.

Short Programmes

For professionals looking to develop their skills and update their knowledge in specific areas of international affairs, but not necessarily to earn a degree. The intensive and targeted short programmes last from a few days to a few weeks.

Customised Programmes

For organisations facing ever-increasing challenges in a fast-moving international environment. The customised programmes aim to develop organisations' capacities. They address organisations' specific training needs in international affairs and development issues over a period of one day to a few weeks.

THEMATIC EXPERTISE

Our programmes offer flexible solutions to different training needs in the following areas:

- International Negotiation and Policy-Making
- Development Policies and Practice
- Advocacy in International Affairs
- Asian Affairs
- Oil and Gas Leadership
- Multilateral Diplomacy
- Global Health Diplomacy
- Conflict and Peacebuilding
- Environmental Governance
- Global Migration

EDUCATION ON WORLD AFFAIRS THAT MEETS YOUR NEEDS

Our Programmes are

→ Flexible

They are specifically designed to give intensive exposure to key topics in world affairs while allowing participants to carry on their professional careers.

→ Pragmatic

In addition to giving crucial theoretical background, our courses focus on providing practical skills with concrete applications.

→ Diverse and Cosmopolitan

We foster interaction between the public and private sectors. Our community is truly international. Lecturers and participants come from all over the world.

→ Independent

Executive Education draws on the Institute's research expertise in a wide variety of global issues.

→ Connected to World Affairs

Participants benefit from the Institute's network of over 10,000 worldwide alumni, 100 public events every year, unique ties to international organisations and an impressive collection of works covering international relations and development.

→ A Bridge to International Expertise

The Graduate Institute's Executive Education activities are supported by a network of academic, public and private partners in Switzerland and throughout the world.

Our Institute is quality certified by the Swiss Certification Label for Continuing Education (EduQva) and by the Swiss Center of Accreditation and Quality Assurance in Higher Education (OAQ).

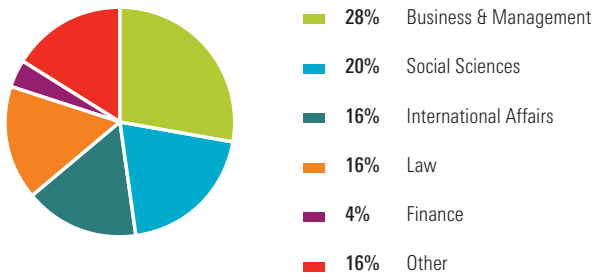

PARTICIPANTS FROM DIVERSE BACKGROUNDS

Profiles

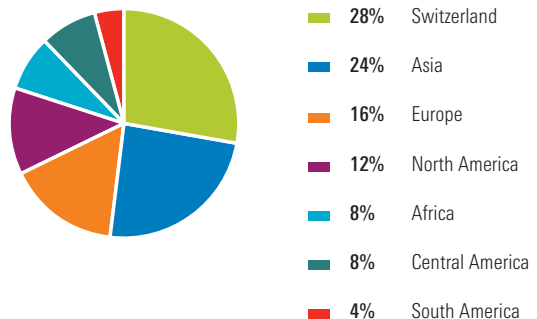

Our participants seek a broad understanding of world affairs which encompasses both public and business-related challenges. Our diverse alumni community includes diplomats, civil servants and executives from the private, public and non-profit sectors. They range from junior to mid-level professionals and share a common commitment to grasping the challenges facing our world.

Employment by sector

Participants' origins

Simone AESCHLIMANN (Switzerland)

Personnel Manager and Human Resource Focal Point for the Horn of Africa at the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC)

“ After only one module in the Executive Master in International Negotiation and Policy-Making programme, I already noticed the impact on my every day work. I am able to better understand background information and the political aspects indirectly influencing my current activities. Hence, I am also in a position to use these additional insights meaningfully in my duties and interactions with people at all levels. The interaction with the other participants from all over the world is refreshing and enriching. The level of the lecturers is impressive and the programme is well structured. It is a pleasure to go to every lecture! Studying while still working is an additional attractive benefit the programme offers. ”

New ZIN WIN (Myanmar)

Alumni, Executive Master in Development Studies Programme Director, NGO Pyi Gyi Khi

“ After having obtained my diploma, I was appointed as Programme Director of the NGO Pyi Gyi Khi which works to advance the health of women and children at the grass-roots level. The Executive Education programme made me a better leader, strengthened my management skills and improved my ability to make sound decisions. I am now more confident to lead my NGO. ”
