L'INSTITUT DE HAUTES ÉTUDES INTERNATIONALES ET DU DÉVELOPPEMENT

L'Institut est un établissement universitaire de recherche et d'enseignement postgrade (master et doctorat), sélectif et cosmopolite, installé au cœur de la Genève internationale et spécialisé dans l'étude des enjeux globaux et internationaux du monde contemporain. Il offre également des programmes de perfectionnement professionnel et de l'expertise aux acteurs internationaux, qu'ils proviennent du service public, du secteur privé ou du secteur à but non lucratif.

L'histoire de l'Institut remonte à 1927, à l'époque de la Société des Nations, quand il fut la première institution au monde entièrement consacrée à l'étude des affaires internationales. En 1961 naquit l'Institut d'études du développement (sous le nom d'Institut africain), une institution pionnière dans son domaine. En 2008, les deux instituts se sont réunis sous un même toit en combinant de manière originale relations internationales et questions de développement.

L'Institut est administré par une fondation de droit privé. Il a la capacité d'être propriétaire et dispose d'un cadre réglementaire qui met l'accent sur la rigueur et l'efficacité. Il est accrédité par le gouvernement suisse et reçoit des subventions de la Confédération et du Canton de Genève.

En remplissant sa mission, l'Institut s'oriente sur des valeurs fondamentales :

- promouvoir la coopération internationale en proposant une réflexion novatrice sur les défis du monde contemporain ;
- apporter une contribution académique au développement de sociétés moins favorisées ;
- encourager un sentiment de responsabilité globale ;
- favoriser le respect de la diversité.

THE GRADUATE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

The Institute is an institution of research and higher education (Master and PhD). Selective and cosmopolitan, it is situated in the heart of International Geneva and specialises in the study of the major global and international issues facing the contemporary world. It also offers professional development programmes and expertise to international actors from the public, private and not-for-profit sectors.

The Institute's history dates back to 1927, the time of the League of Nations, when it was created as the first institution in the world dedicated entirely to the study of international affairs. The year 1961 saw the birth of the Institute for Development Studies (known at the time as the African Institute), a pioneer in the field. In 2008, the two institutes were united under the same roof, thereby combining the study of international relations and development in a unique way.

The Institute is administered by a private foundation. It is entitled to hold property and is governed by a regulatory framework whose defining features are rigour and efficiency. It is accredited by the Swiss Government and receives funding from the Confederation and the Canton of Geneva.

Several core values guide the Institute's mission:

- Promote international cooperation through an innovative approach to the challenges facing the contemporary world;
- Make an academic contribution to the development of less privileged societies;
- Encourage a sense of global responsibility;
- Foster respect for diversity.

La Fondation

Jacques Forster, président du Conseil de fondation, et Isabelle Werenfels, vice-présidente.

La Fondation pour l'étude des relations internationales et du développement, qui gère l'Institut, est une fondation de droit privé qui bénéficie de subventions de la Confédération helvétique et du Canton de Genève pour la réalisation de sa mission de service public.

Son Conseil de fondation est composé de personnalités indépendantes, nommées par le Conseil fédéral et le Conseil d'Etat du Canton de Genève. Les relations de la fondation avec les autorités publiques sont réglées dans une convention d'objectifs de quatre ans (2013-2016), qui fixe le montant des subventions accordées et les objectifs à accomplir.

The Foundation for International Relations and Development Studies is a private foundation that receives subsidies from the Swiss Confederation and the Canton of Geneva to fulfil its public service mandate.

Membership of the Foundation Board is composed of independent individuals appointed by the Federal Council and the State Council of the Canton of Geneva. Relations between the Foundation and public authorities are governed by a Convention that sets out quadrennial goals (2013–2016); it also decides the value of the grants to be given and defines the objectives to be achieved.

UN BILAN REMARQUABLE

L'année 2012 marque la fin de la première convention d'objectifs liant l'Institut à ses deux financeurs publics, la Confédération helvétique et l'Etat de Genève. L'exécution de cette convention a fait l'objet d'une expertise par une commission composée de MM. Stephan Bieri (président), Bertrand Badie et Raymond Torres, qui a dressé un bilan « tout à fait positif » du travail accompli.

Un regard par-dessus l'épaule fait mesurer le chemin parcouru depuis 2007 (cf. pp. 8-19):

- le corps enseignant a été renouvelé par l'engagement de 30 professeurs, ce qui a permis à la fois un rajeunissement et une féminisation;
- les étudiants, bien sélectionnés et encadrés, ont un taux élevé d'obtention de leur diplôme dans les délais réglementaires;
- la création de sept centres et programmes de recherche alimente de manière croissante l'analyse des grands problèmes internationaux du monde contemporain;
- le réseau académique a doublé d'importance et inclut aujourd'hui une dizaine de partenaires dans des pays émergents;
- la formation continue est en pleine expansion et répond aux besoins grandissants des acteurs internationaux;
- enfin, le Campus de la paix dote l'Institut d'une infrastructure à la hauteur de ses ambitions.

Tout cela atteste la réussite du pari initial: la création d'une institution universitaire postgrade spécialisée dans le global et l'international, ayant vocation de former des étudiants du monde entier, capable d'innovation ainsi que d'agilité et faisant fond sur une stratégie de partenariat public-privé.

En 2012, l'Institut a redéfini avec succès les conditions-cadre de son activité. Une nouvelle convention d'objectifs couvrant les années 2013-2016 a été négociée avec les autorités fédérales et cantonales. Une convention a été signée avec l'Université de Genève qui renforce la collaboration dans un esprit de respect mutuel. Enfin, le Conseil d'Etat a déposé un projet de loi visant à reconnaître l'Institut, au même titre que l'Université, comme l'une des hautes écoles soutenues par l'Etat de Genève.

Sur cette base, l'Institut continue à privilégier l'exigence de qualité dans toutes ses activités et à poursuivre son objectif de rayonnement à travers le monde au service de Genève et de la Suisse.

A REMARKABLE ACHIEVEMENT

The year 2012 marks the end of the first "Convention d'objectifs" between the Institute and its two public funders, the Swiss Confederation and the State of Geneva. The implementation of this Convention has been reviewed by a Commission made up of Stephan Bieri (president), Bertrand Badie and Raymond Torres who have delivered an "altogether positive" assessment of the work accomplished to date.

A quick look back allows us to take stock of progress made since 2007 (see p. 8–19):

- The teaching faculty has been renewed through the engagement of 30 new professors, which has resulted in both its rejuvenation and feminisation;
- Our students who are carefully selected and well supervised enjoy a high graduation rate;
- The creation of seven research centres and programmes is increasingly feeding into the analysis of the major international challenges of the contemporary world;
- The academic network has doubled in size and today includes about a dozen partners from emerging nations;
- Executive Education continues to expand to meet increasing demand from international actors;
- Finally, the "Campus de la paix" is giving the Institute an infrastructure commensurate with its ambitions.

These accomplishments demonstrate the successful achievement of our initial goal: the creation of a flexible and innovative graduate academic institution, specialised in global and international affairs, whose mission is to train students from all over the world and whose strategy is based on public-private partnerships.

During 2012, the Institute successfully redefined the framework conditions governing its activities. A new "Convention d'objectifs" covering the 2013–2016 period has been negotiated with the Federal and Cantonal authorities. An agreement has been signed with the University of Geneva to strengthen collaboration between the two institutions in a spirit of mutual respect. Finally, the State Council of Geneva has proposed a bill that recognises the Institute as one of the institutions of higher education funded by the State of Geneva.

It is on this basis that the Institute continues to pursue excellence in all its activities and to contribute to the global outreach of Geneva in particular and Switzerland in general.

Le Prix international Edgar de Picciotto 2012

L'Institut a créé le Prix international Edgar de Picciotto en hommage et en remerciement à M. de Picciotto et à sa famille pour leur soutien exceptionnellement généreux, qui a permis de financer en grande partie la Maison des étudiants. Attribué tous les deux ans, ce prix, d'un montant de 100 000 CHF, est destiné à récompenser une personnalité universitaire de renommée internationale ayant contribué par ses recherches à une meilleure compréhension des défis mondiaux et dont les travaux ont influencé les décideurs politiques. En 2012, le lauréat du prix était le Prix Nobel d'économie en 1998, M. Amartya Sen.

The 2012 Edgar de Picciotto International Award

The Institute created the Edgar de Picciotto International Award as a tribute and token of thanks to Mr Edgar de Picciotto and his family for their exceptionally generous support which has enabled us to finance a considerable part of the Student House. Awarded every two years, this prize worth CHF 100,000 is intended to reward an internationally renowned academic whose research has contributed to enhancing understanding of global challenges and whose work has influenced policy-makers. In 2012, the prize was awarded to Mr Amartya Sen, 1998 winner of the Nobel Prize for economics.

Le Campus de la paix «Campus de la paix»

Le Campus de la paix est un réseau de bâtiments situés au cœur de la Genève internationale. Il s'étend de la place des Nations aux rives du lac Léman en reliant le parc Mon Repos et le parc Rigot. Sa pièce maîtresse, la Maison de la paix, offrira une infrastructure de haute qualité dès l'automne 2013.

Le développement académique

Academic Development

Prenant appui sur des atouts substantiels, l'Institut s'est donné les moyens de devenir l'un des hauts lieux mondiaux de l'enseignement, de la recherche et de l'échange intellectuel sur les défis actuels et émergents du monde contemporain. Les changements intervenus entre 2007 et 2012 sont à la fois d'échelle et de niveau. Le corps enseignant a été en grande partie renouvelé par l'engagement de 30 professeurs; 7 centres et programmes de recherche ont été créés; la formation continue est en pleine expansion. L'attrait de l'Institut est confirmé par l'accroissement considérable du nombre de candidatures d'étudiants.

Benefiting from significant assets, the Institute has provided itself with the means to become a world leader in graduate education, research and intellectual debate around emerging and contemporary global challenges. Changes that have taken place between 2007 and 2012 are striking both in their scale and level. The faculty has been renewed with the hiring of 30 professors; 7 research centres and programmes have been created; executive education is growing fast. The Institute's attractiveness is confirmed by the increase in the number of applicants in our academic programmes.

L'enseignement
Teaching

L'Institut offre des programmes d'études disciplinaires et interdisciplinaires. Cette variété fait l'une de ses originalités, le champ des études internationales étant rarement approché de manière aussi large et complète. Les étudiants ont ainsi la possibilité de choisir, au sortir d'une première formation, entre un approfondissement disciplinaire et un élargissement interdisciplinaire. On soulignera que, même dans le premier cas, la pluridisciplinarité est encouragée. Au niveau du master, les étudiants doivent obtenir un certain nombre de crédits dans une seconde discipline. Au niveau du doctorat, ils ont la possibilité de faire une thèse dans deux disciplines, l'une choisie comme « majeure », l'autre comme « mineure », et d'obtenir un diplôme qui reconnaît le caractère bidisciplinaire de leur doctorat. Ils peuvent également effectuer, sous certaines conditions, un parcours complet master-doctorat en cinq ans au lieu de six.

L'enseignement à l'Institut est exigeant et obéit à des critères stricts de qualité et de rigueur. Il se caractérise par une interaction étroite entre étudiants et enseignants dans des classes de petite taille, l'importance donnée au travail personnel, un bilinguisme qui laisse à chacun la liberté de s'exprimer en anglais ou en français et, enfin, un souci des débouchés professionnels des étudiants, comme l'attestent l'actualisation régulière du curriculum et l'encouragement à effectuer des stages, à participer à des ateliers et à faire des travaux appliqués utiles à une carrière internationale.

The Institute offers disciplinary and interdisciplinary study programmes. This represents one of its unique selling points as the field of international studies is rarely approached in such a broad and comprehensive manner. Hence, upon completion of their first degree, incoming students can choose between studying their own discipline in greater depth or opting for interdisciplinary studies. It is worth highlighting that even if students choose the first option, interdisciplinarity is encouraged. When studying for a Master, students are required to achieve a certain number of credits in a second discipline. PhD students have the option of writing their thesis in two disciplines, one as their "major" and the second as their "minor". The diploma reflects the bi-disciplinary nature of their doctorate. A fast track gives students, under certain conditions, the opportunity to complete their Master and PhD in five years instead of six.

Studying at the Institute is demanding and requires to meet high standards of quality and rigour. It involves close interaction between students and faculty in small teaching groups, a strong emphasis on personal work, and a bilingual policy allowing everyone to express themselves in either English or French. Close attention to student career options means that the curriculum is regularly updated and students are encouraged to undertake internships, participate in workshops and engage in practical work relevant to an international career.

Les professeurs Professors

L'Institut possède une densité remarquable de compétences spécialisées sur l'international, en droit et en sciences sociales. Ses professeurs sont divers par l'origine nationale, le parcours universitaire et les perspectives scientifiques. Ils sont recrutés sur la base à la fois d'une expertise disciplinaire et d'une capacité de dialogue et de coopération interdisciplinaire. Ensemble, ils offrent une large palette de compétences thématiques et d'expertise régionale.

Leurs compétences thématiques couvrent les principaux enjeux intéressant la gouvernance globale :

- acteurs non étatiques et société civile
- action humanitaire
- commerce, régionalisme et intégration
- conflits, sécurité et consolidation de la paix
- culture, religion et identité
- développement rural
- environnement et ressources naturelles
- finance et développement
- genre
- gouvernance
- migrations et réfugiés
- mondialisation
- politiques et pratiques du développement
- règlement des différends

The Institute has a remarkable wealth of knowledge and expertise in law and social sciences from an international viewpoint. Its professors are diverse in terms of national origin, academic background and scientific perspectives. They are recruited as much for their disciplinary expertise as for their capacity for multidisciplinary dialogue. Together, they offer a wide range of thematic competencies and regional expertise.

Their thematic expertise covers the principal global governance challenges:

- Non-state actors and civil society
- Humanitarian action
- Trade, regionalisation and integration
- Conflict, security and peacebuilding
- Culture, religion and identity
- Rural development
- Environment and natural resources
- Finance and development
- Gender
- Governance
- Migration and refugees
- Globalisation
- Development policies and practices
- Dispute settlement

→ SHALINI RANDERIA

Professor, Anthropology and Sociology of Development
PhD, Free University of Berlin

Shalini Randeria is a former member of the Senate of the German Research Council (DFG), President of the European Association of Social Anthropologists (EASA) and a Fellow of the Institute of Advanced Studies, Berlin. She was Max Weber Professor for Sociology at the University of Munich, Professor of Social Anthropology at the University of Zurich as well as Professor and Chair of the Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology of the Central European University Budapest. She currently serves on the advisory board of the Wenner-Gren Foundation, New York, and on the editorial board of the Annual Review of Anthropology. She has published widely on the anthropology of globalisation, law, the state and social movements. Her empirical research on India also addresses issues of post-coloniality and multiple modernities.

→ UGO PANIZZA

Professor, International Economics,
Pictet Chair in Finance and Development
Deputy-Director, Centre for Finance and Development
PhD, Johns Hopkins University

Ugo Panizza has been a Visiting Professor at the Institute since 2008, a position he has held alongside that of Chief of the Debt and Finance Analysis Unit at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development. Previously, he worked at the Inter-American Development Bank and the World Bank, and held teaching and research posts at the American University of Beirut and the University of Turin. Professor Panizza's research interests include international finance, sovereign debt, banking, and political economy. He has extensive work and research experience in Latin America and the Middle East and North Africa. He is a member of the executive committee of the Latin American and Caribbean Economic Association (LACEA) and an editor of the Association's journal Economia.

→ LORE VANDEWALLE

Assistant Professor, International Economics,
Pictet Chair in Finance and Development
PhD, Centre for Research on the Economics of Development at Namur University, Belgium

Lore Vandewalle joined the Institute from the University of Goettingen where she was a Postdoctoral Fellow. Previously, she was Experienced Researcher at Bocconi University and the London School of Economics. She is a micro-development economist who focuses on empirics and tests economic theory through fieldwork. Her work on women's self-help groups in India has brought a new angle to the study of microfinance issues. Her arrival strengthens the Institute's expertise in applied micro-development. It also provides additional expertise on India.

→ ILONA KICKBUSCH

Adjunct Professor

PhD, University of Konstanz, Germany

Director of the Institute's Global Health Programme since 2008, Ilona Kickbusch advises organisations, government agencies and the private sector on policies and strategies to promote health at the national, European and international levels. Before joining the Graduate Institute, she was a consultant for the Swiss Confederation, the Pan American Health Organization and was Professor and Head of the Global Health Division at Yale University's School of Medicine. Prior to that, she held key roles in the World Health Organization for nearly two decades.

→ GIAN LUCA BURCI

Adjunct Professor, International Law

Gian Luca Burci has served in the Legal Office of the World Health Organization since 1998 and was appointed Legal Counsel in 2005. Professor Burci previously served as Legal Officer at the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna and in the United Nations Secretariat in New York for nearly a decade. His areas of expertise include international law and international organisations as well as governance and law related to international health.

→ GIACOMO LUCIANI

Adjunct Professor

Giacomo Luciani has been Visiting Professor at the Institute since 2008 and is Co-Director of the Executive Master in Oil and Gas Leadership. He is also Scientific Director of the Master in International Energy of the Paris School of International Affairs at Sciences-Po, and a Princeton University Global Scholar. Professor Luciani's career has crossed over into academia, industry and government. He has worked for ENI, the Italian Oil Company as well as taught at UCLA, the European University Institute in Florence, and the College of Europe. His recent research focuses on the security of energy supplies, the stabilisation of oil prices, and the diversification of oil-exporting countries' economies.

La recherche
Research

En tant qu'établissement de recherche, l'Institut a pour mission de produire et de diffuser des connaissances sur les enjeux globaux et internationaux du monde contemporain et de contribuer au progrès de la communauté scientifique mondiale, tout en offrant aux acteurs internationaux des analyses pertinentes et capables d'éclairer leur action.

A côté de travaux menés sur une base individuelle dans le cadre des départements, la recherche est produite dans des centres interdisciplinaires qui favorisent un échange intellectuel stimulant entre professeurs et doctorants et développent des réseaux mondiaux d'expertise spécialisée dans les thématiques où Genève et la Suisse ont un avantage comparé.

As a research institution, the Institute produces and disseminates knowledge on the global and international challenges of the contemporary world and contributes to the progress of the world's scientific community, while offering policy-relevant analysis to international actors.

Alongside individual research conducted within the different departments, research is also conducted within multidisciplinary centres which foster vibrant intellectual exchange between faculty and doctoral students and contribute to the development of global networks of expertise on issues in which Geneva and Switzerland have a comparative advantage.

Centre finance et développement Centre for Finance and Development

En 2012, un nouveau centre de recherche a été établi grâce au soutien de M. Ivan Pictet et de la Fondation Pictet pour le développement qui finance trois chaires occupées par les professeurs Panizza, Vandewalle et Huang. Le Centre finance et développement permettra d'accroître et de fédérer les compétences de l'Institut à l'intersection de la finance internationale, de l'économie du développement et de l'histoire financière et de donner une visibilité internationale à un domaine riche d'avenir.

In 2012, a new research centre was established thanks to support from Mr Ivan Pictet and the Pictet Foundation for Development who are financing three Chairs held by Professors Panizza, Vandewalle and Huang. The Centre for Finance and Development will enable us to expand and bring together the Institute's expertise at the interface of international finance, development economics and financial history as well as to give greater visibility to an area with a promising future.

Global South Workshop

L'Institut organise depuis 2005 un atelier doctoral d'une semaine. Sur la base d'un appel d'offres annuel qui attire en moyenne une centaine de candidatures du monde entier, une trentaine de participants sont sélectionnés. Depuis 2011, l'atelier se tient sur le campus de l'un de nos partenaires académiques. En 2011, il s'est tenu à l'Université de Gadjah Mada, en Indonésie, et en 2012 à l'Université du Ghana, à Accra.

Since 2005, the Institute has organised a one-week doctoral workshop. Every year, some one hundred candidates from all over the world apply for one of the 30 available places. Since 2011, the workshop has taken place on the campus of one of our academic partners. In 2011, the workshop was held at the University of Gadjah Mada in Indonesia and in 2012 at the University of Ghana in Accra.

Research Centres and Programmes

Centre for International Environmental Studies

The Centre initiated several new research projects in 2012, notably one on global food security entitled “FoodSecure” and funded by the European Commission and another that analyses the links between economic growth, demographic change and global land use entitled “Sustainable Human Niche” and funded by the MAVA Foundation. Both of these projects are led by Professor Timothy Swanson, Director of the Centre.

Within the framework of the ongoing Global Impact Quantification project at the Centre in collaboration with Beijing University, a household survey was undertaken on the damages for human health caused by air pollution in Beijing. Under the Centre’s Governance Entrepreneurs project led by Professor Liliana Andonova and funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation, databases were compiled on public-private partnerships and analysed for two international organisations: the United Nations Environment Programme and the World Bank. Country case studies of how formal and informal local governance processes are influenced by national and international climate change discourse were undertaken in Peru and Pakistan under the “Adapting to Adaptation project” led by Professor Marc Hufty and funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation.

Of the many events the Centre organised, the highlight of 2012 was the convening by Professor Jorge Viñuales, together with partners, of an official side event at the United Nations Rio+20 Conference in June on “Legal Frameworks for Sustainable Development”, gathering leading scholars and practitioners to discuss legal aspects of the transition to a green economy. Finally, Professor Jorge Viñuales’ book on Foreign Investment and the Environment in International Law was published by Cambridge University Press.

Centre for Trade and Economic Integration

World trade governance is at a historical crossroads – regional trade agreements are proliferating and expanding. The result is an erosion of WTO-centricity in favour of the multilateral trading system. The Centre has contributed thought-leadership pieces on this issue and has fostered a forum for discussion among governments and researchers. Key events in 2012 in which the Centre contributed to the debate include a session within a Public Forum on the implications of supply-chain trade for WTO rules; and a Roundtable discussion, held at the WTO in May and led by Joost Pauwelyn, which examined the legality of various options for multilateral agreements.

In July, the Centre’s Summer Lecture gathered former and current diplomats for a discussion that examined WTO negotiations, ways to conclude the Doha Round and possible alternatives. A November meeting hosted Korean Trade Minister and former Professor of Economics Dr Taeho Bark, who subsequently became a candidate for the position of Director General at the WTO. The Fifth Annual Update on Dispute Settlement in March was a lively event.

2012 saw the publication of two books on Informal International Law-Making; these were the culmination of a two-year research project.

Finally, a Centre-supported team of four students from the Graduate Institute outshone competitors from around the world to achieve victory in the 2011–12 Moot Court Competition on WTO Law, a prestigious competition organised by the European Law Students’ Association (ELSA).

Centre on Conflict, Development and Peacebuilding

The Centre on Conflict, Development and Peacebuilding is the Graduate Institute's focal point for research in the areas of conflict analysis, peacebuilding, and the complex relationships between security and development. The work undertaken by its 35 staff members and affiliates consciously departs from a purely problem-solving and policy-oriented approach to deliver focused, rigorous and substantively new outputs and contributions to both academic and practitioner debates.

In collaboration with institutional partners in both the global North and South, the Centre continued its research on a variety of projects and themes in 2012. These include violence and security provision in urban areas; the causal impact of development aid on local social dynamics; the logics of regime complexes in the fields of finance and security; and the role and participation of civil society groups in the Middle East and North Africa during the consolidation phase of the current transitions.

Around 20 new project proposals and concept notes were submitted throughout the year to foundations, international organisations and donor governments. Taking into account its two outreach initiatives, the Geneva Forum and the Geneva Peacebuilding Platform, the CCDP participated in the organisation of 47 events in 2012.

Global Health Programme

In 2012 the Global Health Programme was able to further expand its activities as a leading think-tank and research programme on health as a challenge for global governance, and as a centre of excellence in global health diplomacy. Along with the advisory group, the programme is now receiving support from a distinguished group of senior fellows: Raoul Blindenbacher, Gian Luca Burci, Nick Dragger, Michel Kazatchkine, Mihály Kökény, Graham Lister and Stephen Matlin.

The Global Health Programme has been involved in several ways in the seminal WHO reform processes presently underway. It provided one of the major background studies for the WHO European Health Policy 2020 which explored new approaches to Governance for Health. The Programme was able to present and debate its work on global health governance at a wide range of international meetings and has continued to publish widely.

The Programme was also able to expand the reach of the Global Health Diplomacy executive courses to new audiences and new parts of the world, in particular to South East Europe, Turkey, and the countries of the Eastern Mediterranean. It continues its work in China and Indonesia. In 2012, more than 300 participants took advantage of the executive courses, high-level seminars and workshops in global health diplomacy. As a highlight of the year, the Global Health Programme launched its first online course in global health diplomacy for heads of WHO Offices in countries, territories and areas.

These activities have been accompanied by a number of publications which are important references in this field, among others, a textbook entitled Global Health Diplomacy: Concepts, Issues, Actors, Instruments, Fora and Cases, edited by Ilona Kickbusch, Graham Lister and Michaela Told, has been published by Springer New York.

Finally, the Global Health Programme continues to provide a neutral, academic platform bringing together different stakeholders from International Geneva and contributing to ongoing policy debates. In 2012, Professor Joseph E. Stieglitz, recipient of the 2001 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences and Professor at Columbia University, delivered the keynote address on global public goods in a public seminar on "Strengthening the Global Research & Development System: Innovation for Health Needs in Developing Countries".

Programme for the Study of Global Migration

The year 2012 was marked by change and development for the Programme for the Study of Global Migration. In September, Professor Vincent Chetail became its Director and a Steering Committee was created, reflecting the diversity and dynamism of the Graduate Institute's migration experts.

The year was marked by important fundraising successes: Dr. Flynn received over USD 500,000 from the Open Society and Oak Foundations to support the Global Detention Project, while Professor Monsutti received over CHF 350,000 from the Swiss National Science Foundation (SNSF) for a project on diversity as a factor of social stability.

Research activities include important progress made by Professor Chetail's research teams working on the SNSF-funded "Statelessness in International Law" project and on the Swiss Network for International Studies-funded project on "International Law and Migration Detention".

As part of increased interactions with the policy world, Dr. Gazagne worked on a project funded by the Swiss Development Agency on the challenges faced by Swiss-based Sri Lankan migrants when investing in the development of their home country. Furthermore, the programme's members participated in major events such as the prestigious Annual Elizabeth Colson Lecture given by Professor Monsutti in Oxford.

Programme for the Study of International Governance

The Programme was a hub for three ongoing research projects in 2012, directed by Professor Thomas Biersteker. The first examines Transnational Policy Networks, the second explores Dialectics of World Orders, and the third assesses the Impacts and Effectiveness of UN-Targeted Sanctions. The latter commenced in 2008, and is now a multi-year, multinational project engaging more than 50 people. In 2012, it produced pioneering qualitative and quantitative databases on UN targeted sanctions, and a Practitioner's Guide to the Design of Sanctions. The Programme hosted three International Geneva Luncheon Seminars in 2012, co-organised with the UN Office in Geneva and the Canton of Geneva. As part of efforts to foster dialogue between scholars and senior management of the 41 UN agencies in Geneva, Professors Robert Wade, Anne Peters, Christer Jönsson, and Jonas Tallberg gave presentations on topics such as "Why the G20 Should be Replaced with a Global Economic Council"; "Transparency in Global Governance"; and "International Organisations at the Public-Private Borderline". The Programme co-organised two workshops in 2012, including one on the "European Political Project: From Disintegration to Integration", and another on "NGOs and Global Governance".

Programme on Gender and Global Change

The programme's activities focus on two thematic areas: the transformations of gender resulting from processes of globalisation and development, and the politics of gender in a globally connected world. Under its first thematic area, scholars in the programme are conducting research on gender and agriculture funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation (SNSF), while an international workshop was organised on "Gender and Agriculture after Neoliberalism". The latest issue of the Cahiers genre et développement series also addresses the theme of gender, agrarian change and food. Within the second thematic area, ongoing research examines the international organisation of human reproduction and reproductive rights. The project on "Gender Experts and Gender Expertise" was approved by the SNSF and examines the construction of gender experts and gender expertise in transnational spaces. Following a conference organised by the programme, the book Feminist Strategies in International Governance appeared in print in 2012. International conferences were held on "The Unhappy Marriage of Religion and Politics: The Pitfalls for Gender Equality", on "Critical Voices in Swiss International Relations: Feminism, Difference, and Beyond", and "Sous le développement, le genre". The Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation approved a three-year extension of the e-learning programme on gender and development.

Les chercheurs invités et en résidence Visiting Fellows and Scholars in Residence

Dans le but d'encourager les échanges intellectuels et les collaborations à long terme, l'Institut reçoit des chercheurs qui peuvent tirer parti de ses ressources et de sa localisation au cœur de la Genève internationale. En 2012, l'Institut a accueilli :

31 chercheurs invités – universitaires (professeurs, chercheurs, postdoctorants) disposant d'un financement externe.

6 chercheurs en résidence – trois boursiers FNS Ambizione, un boursier FNS Marie Heim-Vögtlin, un professeur FNS et un chercheur Marie Curie.

6 « Global South Scholars in Residence » – depuis 2010, grâce au soutien d'une fondation, l'Institut accueille chaque semestre trois universitaires d'Asie, d'Afrique ou d'Amérique latine pour un séjour de recherche. A ce jour, 17 personnes du Bénin, du Brésil, du Kenya, du Mexique, de Mongolie, d'Ouganda et des Philippines ont participé au programme.

As part of efforts to encourage intellectual exchange and long-term collaboration, the Institute hosts researchers keen to take advantage of its resources and its location at the heart of International Geneva. In 2012, the Institute welcomed:

31 Visiting Researchers – academics (professors, researchers, post-doctoral researchers) with independent funding.

6 Researchers in Residence – three SNSF Ambizione scholarship holders, one SNSF Marie Heim-Vögtlin scholarship holder, one SNSF professor, and a Marie Curie researcher.

6 Global South Scholars in Residence – since 2010, thanks to the support of a private foundation, each semester the Institute welcomes three academics from Asia, Africa or Latin America for a research stay. To date, 17 individuals from Benin, Brazil, Kenya, Mexico, Mongolia, Philippines and Uganda have taken part in the programme.

La formation continue
Executive Education

Dans un monde en rapide évolution, la formation continue est un moyen essentiel d'enrichissement intellectuel et de développement professionnel. Pour les personnes engagées dans des carrières internationales, son utilité est tout particulièrement pertinente, qu'il s'agisse de se préparer à une période d'expatriation, de réaliser un objectif de promotion ou de réussir une orientation professionnelle.

L'Institut propose une gamme variée de programmes et de cours qui servent à améliorer les outils et les connaissances utiles à l'analyse et à la prise de décision, que ce soit dans le secteur public, le secteur privé ou le milieu des organisations non lucratives.

In a rapidly changing world, Executive Education is a vital tool for intellectual enrichment and professional development. For individuals who have embarked on an international career path, it is especially useful whether to prepare for an overseas posting, to achieve a promotion, or to succeed in the chosen career.

The Institute offers a wide range of programmes and courses intended to strengthen skills and knowledge necessary for analysis and decision-making in the public, private or not-for-profit sectors.
