GRADUATE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

The Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies is an institution of research and higher education dedicated to the study of world affairs, with a particular emphasis on the cross-cutting fields of international relations and development issues.

Join our community for a unique experience in a renowned and highly specialised postgraduate institution during your summer break.

At the Graduate Institute, you will be immersed in the world of international affairs and engage with distinguished faculty and high-level practitioners from the United Nations and international organisations, while exploring and analysing today's global challenges.

Our short programmes offer a comprehensive approach, featuring lectures, workshops, simulation exercises and visits to international organisations. They also provide valuable insight to students considering pursuing graduate studies in the field of international affairs.

What Students Liked

“The four weeks of the Summer Programme on International Affairs allowed me to explore issues, including humanitarianism, more broadly and deeply than I anticipated; I’d never been in such a worldwide centre of diplomacy as Geneva, where many international institutions are accessible. Each class was delivered by seasoned professors and practitioners and the diversity of our group made for dynamic classes. I am so grateful for having had this amazing opportunity and for such a wonderful experience in Geneva.”

DAIKI NAITO
 Bachelor, Economics, The University of Tokyo

“My experience during the Summer Programme on the United Nations was both stimulating and inspiring. The Graduate Institute provided a robust foundation for participants to dive deep into key global issues surrounding the future of global governance. Professors and guest speakers encouraged participants to critically analyse global issues and empowered us to stipulate authentic solutions. As a young professional adamant on attributing her career to the reinvention of meaningful global governance, I feel ever more empowered, determined and confident in my ambitions after this experience at the Graduate Institute.”
