Field-work and focal points of my research – My research was conducted during my Master in Psychology (Turin, 1996), my PhD in Anthropological Sciences (Turin, 2005), and during the Postgraduate School in Psychoanalytic Training (Laboratorio Freudiano - Milan, 2009). I have been Researcher and Assistant Professor since 2007, and member of the Research Team of several Ethnographic Missions in West and Sub-Saharan Africa. Main focus of my research is medical and psychological anthropology: 1. Migration, Health, and Violence (particularly Nigerian Diaspora); 2. the Transformations of Health System in Sub-Saharan Africa (my fieldwork was in Cameroon, Mali, Uganda and Mozambique); 3. Migrant and Refugee families and the politics of childhood (Italy).

At the moment I am researcher in two Teams: Ethnographic Missions in Sub-Saharan Africa (University of Turin, Italy) and “Integra” Project (University of Eduardo Mondlane, Centro de Estudos Africanos, Maputo, Mozambique).

Major Grants (2014-2015 – 2019-2020) – I have won two European Projects (F.E.I – European Integration Funds – Ministry of Interior) as Principal Investigator for the integration of immigrant population in host country: “The reverse of migration. A comparative analysis of protection and health rights” (University of Turin, April, 1 2014-June, 30 2015, Fund: € 174,839.60); and “S.p.a.c.e.s. Between. Services for the social, educational and clinician treatment” (Frantz Fanon Association, April 8 2014-June 30 2014, Fund: € 168,593.55). I had coordinated two Teams with several researchers and professionals involved.

In 2014-2015 I was also Principal Investigator of the Project “Contested Childhood: Children and the Politics of Culture”. I have coordinated a Research Team of 4 researchers (2 Post-Doc and 2 Phd students) involved in various fieldwork (Togo, Ecuador, Colombia and Italy).

In 2019 I have won as Scientific Coordinator one project for the social inclusion and support of refugee and international students, financed by the Ministry of University and Research (Passi@unito) with € 50,000 for the first year. The project is still ongoing, and I coordinate a Research Team of 4 researchers (scholarships for Phd students with a competence in social science, linguistic, psychology and anthropology).

Didactic work at University – From 2014 till now, I have been Professor of Anthropology of Childhood (36 hours) at the Department of Cultures, Politics and Society for Graduate students in Anthropology, Psychology, Social Science; and I coordinate the Lab on Critical Anthropology of Migrations (18 hours) for Graduate students of the same disciplines. I also teach Introduction to Cultural Anthropology for Undergraduate students in Social Science at the same Department (72 hours per year).

From 2007 to 2013, I was Professor of Anthropology at the Faculty of Psychology of Turin (now Department of Psychology) for Undergraduate Students (Bachelor Degree in Science and Psychological Techniques), University of Turin: 64 hours each year.

In 2011-2012, I was Professor of Psychological Anthropology at the Faculty of Philosophy, for Graduate Students (Master in Anthropology and Ethnology), University of Turin: 36 hours. From 2008 to 2010, I was Professor of Ethnopsychology and Ethnography at the Faculty of Psychology of Turin, for Graduate Students (Master in Sciences and Techniques for Development and Evolutional Age, University of Turin: 64 hours each years). From 2008 to 2011 I was a Lecturer in the Postgraduate Course in Medical Anthropology at the University of Milan (Bicocca), and in several PhD Courses at the Universities of Turin, Siena and Rome. From 2005 to 2007, I was Lecturer in Anthropology at the Faculty of Psychology (University of Turin) and in Ethno-psychiatry and Ethno-psychology of Migration at the Faculty of Foreign Languages and Literatures (Postgraduate Degree), at the University of Turin.

From 2008 to the present, I have been Tutor/Advisor for PhD Students at the PhD School in “Psychological, Anthropological and Pedagogical Sciences” (University of Turin), and at the PhD School in “Social and Political change” (University of Turin and Florence).

Main Research, Scholarships and Ethnological Missions or Scientific Committees for National and European research projects (last 15 years)

2016 (ongoing): Member of the International Project “Integra” (Italian Cooperation in Mozambique) with the ICS of Lisbon (Portugal) and CSA of Maputo (Mozambique) on mental health care system, coordinated by Francesco Vacchiano (ICS Lisbon) and Roberto Beneduce (University of Turin). I have focused my research on child mental disease (first fieldwork) and I will also continue with training activities in 2018 and 2019 for health professionals and social workers.

2015 (ongoing): Coordinator of the Project “UNRESST” (UNITO for Refugees Students and Scholars - Turin). <http://www.dcps.unito.it/do/home.pl/View?doc=unresst.html> and, more recently, Coordinator of the following projects for supporting international and refugee students:

Passi@unito 2019-2021 (Ministry of University and Research and University of Turin).

Mentorship 2020-2021 (Cruis-Oim and Ministry of Interior).

Our aims are to support refugee students in their higher education career and to build a network between universities and cultural and social associations, to help students in their needs (accommodation, transport, learning, etc.), making at the same time research on social inclusion of refugees.

2007 (ongoing): Member of the Italian Mission in Sub-Saharan Africa (<http://www.africasubsahariana.unito.it/presentazione.html>), headed by Roberto Beneduce, with research carried out in Mali and Uganda on the transformation of the local health care system.

Focus of my research is the health of women and children, with particular attention to vulnerable groups (migrant women returning to their country and/or victims of sexual violence).

My role in the Project: To carry out ethnographic research in Mali and Uganda (conducted annually from 2007 to 2013).

2017-2015: Member of the Local Project “Hegemony, Domination and Resistance” (University of Turin). I have worked on institutional violence concerning migrant motherhood and the imagination of the future in “dispossessed immigrant families” (when their children have been adopted).

2011-2010: Member of the Scientific Committee of the European Project “We Care: Strategies and Models of well-integrated support to victims of violence and torture.”

2011-2009: Member of the Scientific Committee of the European Project “T-Share” (Project for the implementation of the practices of cultural mediation in the social and health services: <http://www.tshare.eu/drupal/en>).
