

Swiss National Science Foundation

Feminist research on forced displacement: Survival, labor, and the reproduction of life

Study Day, Muğla Sıtkı Koçman Üniversitesi, Türkiye

May 31, 2024

- 9:00 – 10:30 Welcome and introduction, “Gendering Survival from the Margins” project, Elisabeth Prügl. Raksha Gopal and Luisa Lupo
- 10:30-10:45 Break
- 11:00 – 12:30 Negotiating with forced displacement in the everyday (chair: Raksha Gopal)
- Saadet Altay (Ağrı) and Jessie Hanna Clark (Reno): “Creative and sacred geographies of displacement”
- Özge Biner (Paris) and Zerrin Özlem Biner (London): “Syrian refugees and the politics of waiting in Turkey”
- Susan Beth Rottmann (İstanbul): “Culinary belonging strategies: intersectional agency in everyday homemaking for syrian refugees in Turkey,” co-authored with Maria Kanal (Kraków)
- 12:30 – 14:00 Lunch
- 14:00 – 15:30 Labor at the bottom of global supply chains, social reproduction and mobilities (chair: Luisa Lupo)
- Saniye Dedeoğlu (Muğla): “Precarization via social reproduction: A gendered analysis of seasonal migrant farm work in Turkey,” co-authored with Luisa Lupo (Geneva)
- Zeynep Ceren Eren Benlisoy (İstanbul): “Women in agribusiness amid crises of social reproduction: the case of women workers at the Greenhouse, Turkey”
- Deniz Pelek (İzmir): “Gendered Vulnerabilities: Syrian Refugee and Kurdish Migrant Women in Post-Disaster Agricultural Work,” co-authored with Cemil Yildizcan (İstanbul)
- 15:30 – 15:45 Break
- 16:00 – 18:00 Doing research on forced displacement (chair: Elisabeth Prügl)
- Roundtable with Nurgül Certel (Kocaeli), Özgür Cetinkaya (İzmir), and Nurcan Talay (Gaziantep/Ankara)
- 19:00 Conference dinner